

giffgaff - Modern Slavery Act Transparency Statement

giffgaff Limited (“giffgaff”), a wholly owned subsidiary of Telefónica UK Limited. (“Telefónica UK”), is a UK based virtual network operator, established in 2009, that provides mobile services to approximately 2.7million members. giffgaff runs on the O2 network (O2 being the principal commercial brand of Telefónica UK) and is part of a global telecommunication group, Telefónica SA (Telefónica).

Whilst giffgaff operates as an entirely separate, distinct trading business and brand, and from its own premises in Uxbridge, London, the giffgaff team are directly employed by Telefónica UK and benefit from Telefónica UK policy and procedures on working policies and conditions, including Telefonica UK Business Principles.

These Business Principles prohibit any form of forced labour and therefore this, in addition to using Telefonica UK Procurement to source products in compliance with Telefónica’s Supply Chain Sustainability Policy, means forced labour risks within giffgaff and how it conducts business or in its supply chain are minimal. Any possible forced labour risk will lie in the giffgaff supply chain where these risks are managed by the procurement policy and associated due diligence operated by Telefonica UK.

As a result, the Telefónica UK Modern Slavery Act Transparency Statement also applies to giffgaff and has been approved by the Board of giffgaff Limited.

On behalf of the Board
Mike Fairman,
CEO, giffgaff
